A New Way to Hydrate

With the weather warming up, the need to hydrate is even more important! Cool water will always remain the golden standard to drink regularly and throughout the day. However, during times of higher temperatures, greater physical activity or even just a desire to have more flavor in order to consume more; feel free to check into other options! Of course you can make your own fruit infused water by adding strawberries, blueberries, and lemons and herbs such as mint or basil! Or you can try two unique options on the shelf at your local Redner's Market!

Organic Banana Water

Say YELLOW to plant powered hydration! Crafted from two unique organically grown heirloom bananas that deliver superior taste and a BUNCH of nutrients. An alternative to sports drinks and coconut water, with natural source of electrolytes and 0g added sugar. The peel good beverage that contains no artificial colors or flavors.

Coconut Water

Coconut water, also known as coconut juice, is the liquid inside a young coconut. The juice is low in sugar and calories but high in electrolytes and minerals packed with lots of flavor! Delicious to drink alone or add to a smoothie.
